

Weather Wizard – Literature

(Entrance)

I am the Weather Wizard!
I will now show you my powers!
I help the sun to shine and make the summer showers!
Keep secret what you see today,
Tell no-one what you saw.
Otherwise I promise you, the rain on you will pour! Ha ha!

(Spring)

Winter's gone and flowers bloom
The birds all start to sing.
The hedgehog shows his face and smiles
At last it must be spring.

(Summer)

The sunshine and the flowers,
Bring out the busy bee.
I think he's making honey,
Especially for my tea.

(Autumn)

Autumn's here with berries ripe,
And leaves of gold and red.
I wonder where the dormouse is.
He's snoring in his bed.

(Winter)

The snow is falling, thick and fast
The icicles are freezing.
So wrap up well in winter clothes
Or soon you will be sneezing!

(Weather Wizard)

Hello my friends, I'm the wizard here,
And now you've travelled through the year.
My work is hard, you've seen the reason:
Making weather for each season.
The sun appears at my command,
You like that best I understand.
As well as sun, I'm sure you know,
There must be rain, to make things grow.
I love the thunder, lightning too,
I hope I haven't frightened you.
I try to keep the breezes blowing,
But with the winds there is no knowing.
The gusts I send to fill your sails,
Sometimes turn to storms and gales.
For winter I make ice and snow,
To make you freeze from head to toe.
Now, all my secrets you have heard.
Remember, do not breathe a word.
For I will find out if you do,
And send some rain to fall on you.
So pay no heed to your TV
The only weatherman is me!
